

A close-up view of binary code on a computer screen, showing a mix of white and red digits on a black background. The binary digits are arranged in a grid pattern, with some digits highlighted in red to draw attention to specific bits or bytes.